

Attention Assignment, Photo, News, Life, Environment Editors:

For Immediate Release:

French Fry-Fueled Van Breaking World Record TODAY

New York: Members of the media are invited TODAY for an interview and photo op as Cloe Whittaker (24) and Tyson Jerry (26) break the existing Guinness World Record for longest journey by car using alternative fuel in “The Veggie-Mobile,” a van powered by the waste oil from French fries and other restaurant food.

WHEN: TODAY, Monday, March 22, 2010
12:45 pm b-roll/photo op with Whittaker and Jerry conducting class for students
1:30 pm outside b-roll/photo op with Jerry and Whittaker filtering oil with students
1:45pm breaking the existing Guinness world record
2:30pm – Aprox b-roll/ photo op with Jerry and Whittaker refueling at restaurant

WHERE:

- 12:45 Library of Robert F. Wagner Middle School,
220 East 76th Street New York, NY for teaching session
- 1:30-1:45 Tennis courts at Robert F. Wagner Middle School, tennis courts behind school with drive in access at East 75th Street
- 2:30 aprox Pommes Frites Restaurant - location for oil pick up and refueling also available as photo op: 123 2nd Avenue, New York, NY

WHAT:

The official Guinness record-breaking moment of the existing record of 38,137 KM or 23,697 miles for having made the longest journey by car using alternative fuel.

WHO:

Tyson Jerry, 26, and Cloe Whittaker, 24, both Canadian.

Note to editors: B-roll, Art available

For further information and/or to book an interview, please contact:

Kathleen Kaan
kkaan@verizon.net
Ph: 212-674-5713
Cell: 646-206-7230

Susan McLennan
susan@babbleoncom.com
Ph: (416) 699-1846
Cell: (416) 525-5177